

Code of Conduct

Company Name	TCS (Tera Company Service)
Document Title	Code of Conduct
Policy ID	TCS-HR-014
Version	3.3
Effective Date	01-Jan-2026
Last Updated	25-Jul-2026
Document Owner	Chief Ethics & Compliance Officer
Department	Human Resources / Legal & Compliance
Confidentiality	Internal Use Only

1. Purpose

This Code of Conduct defines the standards of professional and ethical behavior expected of every TCS employee, protecting the integrity of the company and the wellbeing of its people.

2. Scope

Applies to all employees, contractors, interns, and members of the Board acting on behalf of TCS.

3. Definitions

Conflict of Interest	A situation where an employee's personal interests could improperly influence their professional decisions.
Misconduct	Any behavior that violates this Code of Conduct or other TCS policies.
Whistleblower	An employee who reports suspected misconduct in good faith.

4. Professional Ethics

Employees must conduct all business dealings with honesty, fairness, and integrity. This includes accurate record-keeping, honest reporting of work status and expenses, and never misrepresenting facts to clients, colleagues, or regulators.

5. Respectful Workplace

TCS is committed to a workplace where every individual is treated with dignity and respect, regardless of gender, religion, caste, disability, sexual orientation, or any other protected characteristic. Discriminatory jokes, remarks, or behavior are not tolerated.

6. Workplace Behavior

Employees are expected to behave professionally in all work settings — office, client sites, remote work, and company events. This includes maintaining composure during disagreements, avoiding aggressive or intimidating behavior, and refraining from the use of profanity or offensive language in professional communication.

7. Conflict of Interest

Employees must avoid situations where personal interests conflict, or appear to conflict, with TCS's interests. Common examples include:

- Having a financial interest in a vendor, competitor, or client that the employee deals with professionally.
- Hiring, supervising, or awarding contracts to a close family member without disclosure.
- Accepting outside employment or consulting work that competes with or conflicts with TCS's business.

Any actual or potential conflict of interest must be disclosed to the Reporting Manager and HR via the Conflict of Interest Disclosure form on the employee portal, and will be reviewed by the Ethics & Compliance team.

8. Confidentiality

Employees must protect confidential company, employee, and client information both during and after employment, consistent with the Cyber Security Policy (TCS-IT-002) and their individual employment agreement. Confidential information must never be used for personal gain or disclosed without authorization.

9. Gifts and Entertainment

Employees may accept or offer business gifts or entertainment of modest value (up to ₹5,000 per instance) as a normal part of business relationships, provided it does not influence or appear to influence business decisions. Gifts of cash or cash equivalents must never be accepted. Any gift exceeding ₹5,000 must be declined or, if declining would be inappropriate, disclosed to and approved by the Ethics & Compliance team.

10. Harassment

TCS maintains a strict zero-tolerance policy toward workplace harassment, including sexual harassment, in accordance with the Prevention of Sexual Harassment (POSH) Act, 2013. This includes unwelcome physical, verbal, or non-verbal conduct of a sexual nature, as well as bullying or hostile behavior. All employees complete mandatory POSH training as described in the Training and Learning Policy (TCS-HR-013).

11. Discrimination

Discrimination in hiring, promotion, compensation, or any other employment decision based on gender, age, religion, caste, disability, marital status, or sexual orientation is strictly prohibited and will result in disciplinary action.

12. Workplace Relationships

Consensual romantic relationships between employees, particularly where a reporting relationship exists, must be disclosed to HR to allow for appropriate management of potential conflicts of interest, such as reassignment of reporting lines.

13. Reporting Misconduct

Employees who witness or experience misconduct — harassment, discrimination, fraud, conflict of interest, or any other Code of Conduct violation — should report it immediately through one of the following channels:

- 1 Direct discussion with the Reporting Manager (if appropriate and safe to do so).
- 2 Report to HR via the HR Helpdesk or directly to the HRBP.
- 3 File a confidential complaint through the Ethics Helpline (available 24x7, including an anonymous reporting option) at ethics.helpline@tcs-internal.com.
- 4 For POSH-related complaints specifically, contact the Internal Complaints Committee (ICC) directly, as detailed in the Employee Grievance and Complaint Policy (TCS-HR-015).

TCS strictly prohibits retaliation against anyone who reports misconduct in good faith, even if the investigation does not substantiate the complaint.

14. Disciplinary Actions

Violations of this Code of Conduct are investigated by HR and, where relevant, the Ethics & Compliance team or the ICC. Depending on severity, consequences may range from a verbal warning, written warning, and performance improvement plan, up to suspension or termination of employment. Serious violations, such as fraud or harassment, may also be reported to law enforcement where legally required.

15. Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What should I do if I witness misconduct?

A: Report it to your Reporting Manager, HR, or the confidential Ethics Helpline (ethics.helpline@tcs-internal.com), which also supports anonymous reporting. Retaliation against good-faith reporters is strictly prohibited.

Q: What is considered a conflict of interest?

A: Situations where personal interests could improperly influence professional decisions, such as having a financial stake in a vendor you deal with, or hiring a family member without disclosure. These must be disclosed to your manager and HR.

Q: Can I accept gifts from clients or vendors?

A: Modest gifts up to ■5,000 in value are generally acceptable; cash gifts are never acceptable, and anything above ■5,000 must be declined or disclosed to Ethics & Compliance.
